

WILL INVITE THE PRESIDENT

Senate Committee Likely to Overrule Lodge and Knox and Ask President to Appear Before It.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, July 12.—It was regarded as highly probable by both Republican and Democratic members of the senate foreign relations committee today that President Wilson would be invited to appear before the committee after it began consideration of the treaty of Versailles on Monday next.

The opinion of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of the committee, and of Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, that the President, having "ceased to function as part of the treaty-making power of the United States government," there was no necessity for the committee consulting him with respect to the treaty; was not shared by Senators Borah of Idaho, Moses of New Hampshire, and others of the Republicans on it.

It was predicted that a motion inviting the President to attend some of the committee sessions, as he volunteered to do in opening his address to the senate in Thursday last—a motion which Senator Moses stated he would probably offer at Monday's meeting of the committee—would be carried despite any opposition Senators Lodge and Knox might offer.

Senator Fall of New Mexico, was among the Republicans on the committee who said today that he would support such a motion. "The appearance of the president before the committee would be most satisfactory to me," Fall said. "While a majority of the committee would more likely be swayed by its own views rather than by any suggestions or explanations the President might make, it would be interesting to hear what the president might have to say about the Shantung provision of the treaty, for instance, or as to how much foundation there was for the information that reached the senate while he was still participating in the peace conference that, after Orlando and his associates quit over Flume, the Japanese agreed to go along with the 'big three' on condition that Shantung be handed over to them."

Senator Borah was equally insistent with Senator Moses that the committee avail itself of the President's offer to place at the disposal of the committee, informally, or otherwise, his services as well as all the information he possessed regarding the treaty and the events leading up to the making and signing of it.

As the several Democratic members of the committee, all administration supporters, with Senator McCumber of North Dakota, its one Republican proponent of the league of nations were also in favor of the President being asked to appear before the committee, it was predicted that Senators Lodge and Knox would find themselves in a minority if they persisted in backing up Senator Moses' declaration that the President "will not be invited."

It was pointed out that if Senators Lodge and Knox were out-voted, their position would be the reverse of what it was when they voted recently with the Democrats on the committee, to defer action on the Fall resolution, declaring the state of war between the United States and Germany at an end. On that occasion, Senators Borah, Fall, Johnson, of California, and Moses were the only members of the committee, who voted to report the resolution to the senate. A vote on the proposed Moses motion, it was stated, might find the same four senators lined up in opposition again to Senators Lodge and Knox, although those Republican senators in favor of the President being invited to appear before the committee expressed the hope that Senators Lodge and Knox would agree with them by Monday next and another split in the Republican majority controlling the committee would thereby be avoided.

TRYING TO AVERT SHIPPING STRIKE

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, July 12.—With approximately 200 ships already tied up in New York, Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia and smaller Atlantic ports, representatives of the sailors' union and United States shipping board officials were endeavoring today to reach an agreement here today which will avert the complete paralysis of coastwise and trans-Atlantic shipping.

The sailors are standing firm on their demands for a closed shop, higher wages and shorter hours, practically all privately owned ships are idle today, although the majority of the shipping board's vessels are allowed to operate. The government already has agreed to a closed shop. No conferences have been arranged with private owners.

STENOGRAPHER WAS FLUSH. Arrested on Charge of Stealing $10,000 of Liberty Bonds.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Chicago, July 12.—Miss Anna M. Ritten, a $17.50 per week stenographer is under arrest today in connection with the disappearance of $10,000 worth of liberty bonds and other securities from the banking and brokerage house of Camp, Thorne & Company, where she was employed. The police say that when they searched Miss Ritten's apartment they found it luxuriously furnished and the closets filled with expensive clothing. A key found in her room opened a safe deposit box in which $10,000 in liberty bonds, $2,000 in war savings stamps and $500 worth of stock certificates were found. Miss Ritten has refused to answer questions asked by the police.

Circus Tent Burned.

Half of the big tent of the Sells-Floto Circus was destroyed by fire at New Brunswick, N. J., Friday. The fire started from a spark from a passing locomotive. The fire took place between half of the afternoon performance was over, and to open up matters the circus management were another show under the same sky and admitted all persons who said they were in the tent when the fire started, and the audience for the second show was twice as large as that of the first. No one was hurt during the fire. The "big" audience getting out in 11 minutes.

DRY ENFORCEMENT DEBATE IS ON

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, July 12.—Constitutionality of prohibition was on trial today with some of the most eminent lawyers of the country prepared to attack it.

Samuel Untermyer, attorney, was to appear before the prohibition subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee and argue against the constitutionality of prohibition enforcement laws now proposed in the senate. It was probable that Elihu Root, former senator from New York, and William D. Guthrie, also would appear, although Senator Overman, a member of the committee stated that they had not yet given definite notice.

Further delay in action on prohibition enforcement measures in the senate was anticipated as a result of the arguments which were to be made today. The committee has been in session almost continuously for several days and has made little progress. It was said that differences of opinion as to the constitutionality of the proposed law have prolonged the conferences. One of the stumbling blocks is whether congress has the power to define a beverage, containing one-half of one per cent of alcohol as intoxicating. Among the members of the subcommittee are some of the senate's best constitutional lawyers, including Senator Walsh of Montana.

Pressure is being brought to bear upon members of the senate by foreign interests with large investments in distilleries and breweries in this country, but it was stated that this pressure could not bear much weight at this late day. While the house today continued debate on prohibition enforcement legislation, there was considerable conjecture as to the probable date when the bill will become a law. Few were optimistic enough to hope for completion on the legislation before September 1, inasmuch as the league of nations debate is likely to have precedence for the next few weeks in the senate. It was also anticipated that the legislation would be some time in conference.

Some members of the senate were disposed to wait action by the house and allow the senate to take action on the house bill in order to save effort. Senator Sterling, however, intends to proceed with the senate bill, he stated.

The real fight in the house will open next Monday. Debate on prohibition as a general proposition was to close this afternoon, the bill going over until Monday to be taken up for consideration by sections and be thrown over to amendments.

Under rules of the house five minutes are allowed members in discussing amendments proposed, and as many changes are expected, final action will be delayed for a number of days. Chairman Volstead, of the judiciary committee, who is in charge of the bill, hopes to bring it to a vote next Thursday or Friday. Opponents of the measure, however, believe its passage will be delayed until the following week.

It is Volstead's announced plan to endeavor to cut off at the earliest possible moment, the debates on proposed amendments, but the temper of the house is such that unanimous consents to end debate will be difficult to get and much talk is anticipated.

Drastic provisions of the penal sections of the bill, which contemplate a drag-net to reach offenders, are giving many legislators much uneasiness because of the possible uses to which the law may be put, and it was evident today that there will be many amendments to modify these sections.

FINNS FRUSTRATE BOLSHEVIK PLOT

(Exclusive Cable to the International News Service from the London Daily Express.)

By Telegram to The Freeman. Helsinki, Finland, July 11, via London. July 12.—A plot to assassinate General Mannerheim, commander of the White Guard army, and known as the "strong man of Finland," has been frustrated by the arrest of the Bolsheviki conspirators today. The Reds were planning a coup d'etat, to blow up the ammunition depots of the White Guard forces.

There is every prospect of important developments in the Russo-Finnish situation, as the result of conferences and the deadlock may be broken forthwith. Both the Russian and Finnish "White" armies have been reinforced with men, guns and munitions.

RACE RIOT IN TEXAS.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Dallas, Texas, July 12.—Longview, Texas, which was the scene of sharp fighting between white men and negroes yesterday, is quiet today, although troops of the Texas national guard are patrolling the streets and the negro section of the city. Feeling against the negroes is still high, however, and the authorities are taking every precaution to prevent further outbreaks.

The riot yesterday, in which one negro was killed and four white men seriously injured, is said to have been caused by resentment of white men over an attack made in an article in a newspaper published in Chicago upon a young white woman. The article is said to have been written by F. L. Jones, negro school teacher.

A brother of the young woman beat up Jones and citizens then decided to run the negroes out of town. The blacks fired upon the white men from ambush and more than 100 shots were exchanged. After the battle the white men burned a number of negro houses.

First Vermont Election.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Windsor, Vermont, July 12.—George E. Warner, of Hanover, was electrocuted in the Windsor prison today for the murder of his wife's father and mother nearly five years ago. He was the first man to go to the electric chair in the history of the state. Warner said he had nothing to say other than he was innocent. He said that he knew nothing of the murder of his wife's parents until informed by a friend the day following the discovery of their bodies.

FULL CREW LAW NOT VIOLATED

Public Service Commission Decides It Does Not Apply to the Walkkill Valley Railroad.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, July 12.—Charges of violation of the Full Crew Law in the operation of trains on the Walkkill Valley railroad, running from Kingston to Montgomery, a distance of 32 miles, and operated by the New York Central railroad, have been dismissed by the Public Service Commission, Second District. Complaint was made by John Fitzgibbons, representing the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, against the United States Railroad Administration.

The respondent has been operating trains on the Walkkill Valley branch with crews smaller than those prescribed by Section 54a of the Railroad Law, which relates to train operation on railroads of more than 50 miles in length. It was shown at the hearing before Chairman Hill that no trains continued beyond Kingston on the New York Central main line, although some trains are operated from Montgomery on the Erie railroad to Campbell Hall, less than 37 miles in all.

The memorandum of the commission holds that the Full Crew Law, Article 3, seems to have physical rather than corporate considerations in view. It is stated that from the fact that the statute does not apply to freight trains under a certain length even on roads exceeding 50 miles in length, it may well be that the legislature felt safe in assuming that freight trains separately operated on roads or branches less than 50 miles in length would be of such moderate size that they also could safely be made an exception. This seems borne out by the fact that the largest train alleged in the complaint to have been operated contained 36 cars and trains generally contain 15 to 20 cars. The memorandum says: "It would seem reasonable to assume that the legislature felt that the operation of the largest train which would be likely to be required on a branch of less than 50 miles in length was fully as easy and as safe to operate as a train of 25 cars having a much longer run on a main line. We think that was the intention of the legislature and it follows that the complaint should be dismissed."

CLINICS WERE WELL ATTENDED

The two after-the-flu clinics held in Saugerties on Thursday and at the court house in Kingston on Friday were very largely attended, and because of the number of cases under observation it was decided to hold other clinics later in the season, as well as the place for holding the same.

There were forty people examined at Saugerties, and 113 at the court house in this city on Friday. The examiners were Dr. S. Adolphus Knopf, tuberculosis expert and Dr. Anderson, of the Loomis Sanatorium, together with Captain Robert Plunkett, U. S. A. They were assisted by the following nurses: Miss Lydia Gapp, Kingston city tuberculosis nurse; Mrs. M. O'Neil, a city board health nurse; Miss Theresa Reddon, Saugerties nurse; Miss Misses Sarah Lee and Cordelia Miller, nurses from the state department of health; Miss Elizabeth Browne, tuberculosis nurse for Ulster county.

WOOL DEALERS MUST DISGORGE

Farmers To Get Excess Profits—Distribution to Growers Will Be Begun Soon by United States Department of Agriculture.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, D. C., July.—Collection of excess profits from wool dealers is proceeding, and their distribution to wool growers will begin in the near future. This announcement is made by the United States Department of Agriculture, which is completing the work of the domestic wool section of the War Industries Board, in accordance with a provision of the Agricultural Appropriation Bill.

Reports thus far received show that excess profits were made by about 10 per cent of the "country" dealers. Correspondence with "distributing center" dealers, whose total reports are not yet completed, indicate that some of them have accumulated substantial amounts of excess profits on the wool which they actually bought. Auditing of the accounts of the larger dealers is a considerable task and will require several months. The Bureau of Markets, which acts for the Department of Agriculture in this work, will enclose with each check sent to a grower a circular letter giving the name of the firm which handled his wool and which has returned the excess profits of which the customer is receiving his share.

Since the government control of wool has ceased the work of the Department of Agriculture in this connection consists only of auditing the records and accounts of approved wool dealers, the collection of any profits which they may have made in excess of those permitted under the regulations of the War Industries Board, and the distribution by the Department of Agriculture of these profits directly to the growers upon whose wool the profits were made wherever the identity of the wool can be traced.

Permits Issued to Wool Dealers.

The War Industries Board issued permits to about 3,500 "country" dealers authorizing them to buy wool directly from the grower. Permits were also issued to 173 "distributing center" dealers who had facilities for handling wool in large quantities and most of whom were located on the eastern seaboard near the centers of wool manufacture. These larger dealers were required to handle wool on consignment from either growers or country dealers and were also permitted to buy from country dealers direct, or from growers through their agents.

Blank forms calling for a detailed accounting have been sent by the department to both classes of dealers. Reports have been received from about 3,000 of the country dealers and about one-half of the dealers in distributing centers. The taking over of the wool by the War Department was completed so recently that many of the larger dealers have been unable to prepare their reports in an earlier date. The auditing of these reports is proceeding as rapidly as it can be done with the limited force available for assignment to this work, the department says.

AIRSHIP WILL LAND TONIGHT

The R-34 Was 700 Miles From London at Noon—Will Land at Paulham, Owing to Bad Weather in Scotland.

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, July 12.—A wireless message from the R-34 received by the air ministry, shortly after noon today, stated that the big dirigible will land at Paulham, Norfolk, not far from London, instead of going to East Fortune, Scotland, as intended. The change in Major Scott's plans was evidently made suddenly, as at 6:30 o'clock this morning he had wireless that he was heading north for East Fortune, from whence he had made the start to America.

The R-34 at noon was approximately 700 miles from London and unless some mishap occurs, it is believed that she will land tonight or early tomorrow morning. Air ministry officials advised Major Scott early this morning that weather conditions in Scotland were bad. A southwest gale was sweeping the coast, making landing conditions difficult and dangerous. Officials of the air ministry figured today that the R-34 probably will land about 9 o'clock tonight. Several officials had started for East Fortune before Major Scott wireless his change of plans which will bring him to Paulham.

HOT RACE FOR LEAGUE PENNANT

(By Jack Telock).

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, July 12.—The race for the National League pennant, hotly contested as it is, promises to become even tighter during the next ten days.

The success of the Reds and Pirates on their present eastern invasion, is largely responsible for tightening up the race so far, and if the Giants are to hold their ground they will have to saw wood during the eastern visits of their western rivals.

The Giants' and Reds stand tied for the league leadership today. The Reds forced their way into a tie by taking a corker from the Braves at P. ston, and Pittsburgh climbed back into fourth place and the first division by lapping the Dodgers.

Hugo Bezdek's proteges crossed the Brooklyn bridge today to meet the Giants in the first of a four-game series at the Polo Grounds, and McGraw's men, who have so far managed to take three out of five games from Pittsburgh, expected a battle. The Reds, meanwhile, will be engaging the feeble Phillies in Quaker town and if they keep up the pace they have been setting, they are practically sure to see New York out of the lead.

One of the greatest series of the local season is in prospect, beginning July 21, at the Polo Grounds, when the Reds arrive here for three games. In the American League, western pennant contenders, headed by the White Sox, should strengthen their holds on first division berths as they will be playing on their home grounds. An indication of what the White Sox—league leaders, may do is forecasted by their success against the Athletics, who dropped four straight at Comiskey Park.

A story that was current that Margaret Stanton, the young woman who was seen by a number of Kingston people making the high dive with the J. T. LOUNSBERY A THIRD CANDIDATE

Supervisors Chairman, In Addition to Messrs. Schantz and Snyder, Seeks Convention Endorsement for County Treasurer.

James Lounsberry, chairman of the board of supervisors, who has represented the town of Rochester as supervisor since 1916, has thrown his hat in the ring for the Republican nomination for county treasurer of Ulster county, and will seek the recommendation of the delegates at an unofficial convention to be held at the Kingston Opera House on Thursday, July 24. Mr. Lounsberry represented the Second district of Ulster in the State Assembly in 1912-4-5-6, being elected on the Republican ticket and succeeding George H. Bush, Democrat, who was assemblyman for four terms. He was supervisor from the town of Wawarsing from 1888 to 1892, breaking up the Democratic hold of Isaac N. and Walter Cox on that town. A few years ago he moved to the town of Rochester and has been the town's representative in the board of supervisors since 1914. With Philip Schantz, of Lloyd, the present county treasurer, and John A. Snyder of Saugerties a former county treasurer, in the field for the recommendation for nomination, the unofficial county convention will be far from being a cut and dried affair. As W. Norman Conner, the fair street undertaker, is a candidate for the nomination for coroner, as is also E. A. Kelly, the present incumbent, another good natured contest can be expected.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 12.—Because of the rider repealing the daylight saving law, President Wilson today vetoed the agricultural appropriation bill. At the same time it was announced that he also had vetoed the sundry civil appropriation bill.

The civil appropriation bill was vetoed. It was pointed out, because its provisions interfered with plans for the rehabilitation of disabled soldiers, by limiting funds for this work.

Referring to the agriculture bill, the president said:

"I realize, of course, the great inconvenience, which may arise from the postponement of this legislation at this time, but feel obliged to withhold my signature because of the clause which provides that 'at and after 2 o'clock ante meridian on Sunday, October 26, 1919, next, the act entitled 'an act to save daylight and to provide standard time for the United States,' approved March 19, 1918, be, and the same is hereby repealed.'"

"I believe that the repeal of the act referred to would be a very grave inconvenience to the country, and I think I am justified in saying that it would constitute something more than an inconvenience. It would involve a serious economic loss. The act to 'save daylight' resulted not only from a careful study of industrial conditions by competent men, familiar with the business operations of the country, but also from observation of the happy and beneficial consequences of similar legislation in other countries where legislation of this character has been for some time in operation and where it has resulted, as the act of March 19, 1918, has resulted, in the United States, in substantial economies."

That act was intended to place the chief business activities of the country, as nearly as might be, within the limits of daylight throughout the year. It resulted in very great economies of fuel and in substantial economies of energy, because of the very different effect of work done in daylight and work done by artificial light. It, moreover, served the daily convenience of the many communities of the country in a way which gave all but universal satisfaction, and the overwhelming testimony of its value which has come to me convinces me that I should not be justified in acquiescing in its repeal."

SIX SOLDIERS PLUNGE TO DEATH

Army Truck Went Over Embankment Near Alexandria Carrying 18 Men With It—Eleven Injured.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, July 12.—Six soldiers, two of them reported to be captains, were killed and eleven injured when the army truck in which they were riding plunged over an embankment near Alexandria early today. The truck, on its way to Camp Humphreys, and carrying 18 men, had turned out for a military police patrol wagon when it swerved off the caseway, falling some 15 feet to the rocks on the bed of Great Hunting Creek. The injured men were taken by the military police to Camp Humphreys and the bodies of the dead were removed temporarily to Alexandria hospital.

Hit a Telephone Pole.

Supt. William M. Mills, of the Island Dock shipyard, is nursing slight injuries to his face today as the result of an automobile collision with a telephone pole on the Kingston-West Hurley road about 5:30 o'clock last night. Mills was driving a gray Cadillac car of Sheriff Wright J. Smith, with whom he roomed, and was on his way to Sheriff Smith's camp at Watson Hollow. Details of the accident could not be learned. The car struck a pole near Harry Britt's house about one mile past the Huzzardsville bridge. Mr. Mills, it is understood, suffered injuries to his cheek and jaw bone. Besides other bruises, the radiator of the car was damaged. It was towed into this city to the Ulster Garage.

BRITISH NAVY THANKS K. OF C.

The Knights of Columbus Committee on Overseas Activities has received this letter of gratitude from F. Graham Selness, Commander of the British destroyer "Steadfast":

"I write to thank you, and through you, all those who support and are connected with the institution of the Knights of Columbus for the very great kindness shown to the officers and men of my ship at your branch at Spalato, Dalmatia. "Since our arrival at this station, a single British destroyer, the Knights of Columbus have not ceased to shower kindnesses upon us. They have taken my men in exactly as if they were American seamen, providing a place where they always go and be sure of a warm welcome. "The value of this in a strange place where men cannot speak the language of the inhabitants, has been invaluable. "Not content with this your institution has provided us with books, games, chocolates and cigarettes which have been most thoroughly appreciated by all on board. "I hope you will do me the kindness of making known to your supporters in the U. S. A. how greatly the institution has been appreciated and also convey my personal thanks for the kindness shown my men."

Then he came running in and dashed a scotchful of black water over his then wedding bride.

THE AIRSHIP'S LOG.

The log kept by General Matland, commander of the R-24 is interesting not only as a record of the first balloon voyage across the Atlantic and the longest voyage ever made in the air but as an account of an experience which thousands now living may some day enjoy. The growing conviction that the dirigible balloon will become a practical means of carrying passengers imparts a human interest to Matland's published log that is lacking in Read and Alcock's accounts of their more hazardous and uncomfortable aeroplane adventures. Readers of this story of a pioneer voyage may reasonably look forward to a time beyond the stage of experimentation when they in complete security may enjoy a similar experience.

In business-like fashion Matland's log chronicles the voyage of the R-24 were not troubled by cold or wind and that there were no windows to shut out the rain when it came. There was neither noise nor vibration enough to be unpleasant. There was room for exercise, regular eating and sleeping—none of the discomforts which plagued the aeroplane adventurers who were necessarily on duty from start to finish. The men on the R-24 seem to have gone about their business, taken their rest and refreshment, and even enjoyed the wonderful view of sky and sea, with almost as much freedom and unconcern as the crew of an Atlantic liner. And, with electric cookstoves and a lavatory deck, why not? The log tells that all of us—more or less—live through a similar experience in days to come adds zest to the reading of the plan spoken yet in the future.

LINCOLN WITHOUT HIS HUMOR.

A play with Abraham Lincoln as the leading character, written by an Englishman and acted by English folk, recently produced in London, is justifiably criticised by the London Saturday Review on the ground that it contains "not a trace of humor or fun, except the poke about Grant's brand of whiskey," even this being done in a way to fail to produce a smile. The Saturday Review contends that this is a great defect in the play, that Lincoln's earnestness and resolution should have been emphasized by sallies of humor, and adds:

Lincoln was undoubtedly a man of moral earnestness and stern tenacity of purpose. But, according to unanimous contemporary evidence his humor, his quaintness and his sagacity in handling men were more salient characteristics. The author has elevated the earnestness and tenacity and suppressed the humor and the quaintness. Mr. Ben, who acts Lincoln, is made up like the late Lord Peel after an all-night sitting, does nothing but scowl and mutter. All Americans tell yarns, the most wearisome habit we know; but of a nation of yarn-tellers Lincoln was the most indefatigable. On all occasions he told stories and cracked jokes, some of them clownish, others clever. He was as great a bore in his way as Charles II. and when a man is a bore or a president his vice-presidents are obliged to listen to the "oft repeated tale." Such was the impression Lincoln made on his contemporaries, but this is not what the playwrights wish to preserve.

The London critic is right in believing that to present Lincoln without the exhibitions of his sense of humor is to provide a very incomplete picture, but he is hasty and shows lack of information in assuming that Lincoln as a maker of jokes was necessarily a great bore. Americans are good listeners as well as yarn spinners. Obviously the habit of story telling is fertilized by the habit of listening. The one can not be and persist without the other.

The Republican Senate has fixed upon 400,000 men as the proper size of our army for the year ending from July 1, after the Republican House had voted in favor of 200,000 as large enough. Compared with our little standing army of former times, the Senate's proposition scarcely differs in principle from Secretary Baker's recommendation of an army of 500,000.

The travesties of opera bouffe are suggested by the officers of five regiments of the 101st and one of two other regiments to suffer in the famous Kaiser's stead. As all the world knows that the proposition could never receive a moment's consideration, such easy if not self-seeking heroics can only begot a smile.

One German editor sighs for a despot to make his nation go to work—which shows that a people who like to live under an autocratic emperor are not changed by a nominal adoption of republican forms under demand from the outside.

Pierre S. duPont's gift of two million dollars for the improvement of Delaware's public schools reflects more credit upon the powder millionaire than upon his little state's public education system.

Storm Damage in Marlborough.

The terrible storm of last Sunday left a trail of havoc in its wake in Marlborough. The home of John Lann on West street, was struck, a hole was left in the roof and the belt went through to the cellar. The rectory of Christ Church was struck in much the same way. A tree on the property of F. Conway was struck and a small dog owned by him killed. Several trees were blown down and the end of the barn on the E. Fowler place was blown in.

Just Once.

Edward had had trouble with the new boy in the neighborhood, and always got the worst of it, having had black eyes at different times. Soon after this the new boy was ill, and the teacher told the pupils of her class to remember the sick boy in their prayers, as it would be a long time before he would be strong again. Edward replied that he would, but he was bound to say, "Just let me meet him once before he gets good and strong."

CANNING COMPOUNDS HARMFUL

Housewives Warned Against the Use of Preserving Powders.

By Telegraph to the Freeman.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—Canning compounds sold under various trade names for use in home canning are often harmful to health and should never be used by housewives, say the specialists of the bureau of chemistry, United States department of agriculture. These preparations, which are usually in powdered form and contain salicylic acid or boric acid, are unnecessary since fruits and vegetables can be kept for long periods in perfect condition without any chemical preservatives whatever if proper methods of canning are followed.

The federal food and drugs act prohibits the use of harmful preservatives in foods which come within its jurisdiction. The food laws of nearly every state in the union forbid the sale within the state of foods which have been preserved with harmful substances. Although neither the federal or state laws apply to foods canned in the home and consumed there, it would seem that the housewife would not knowingly use, in the foods she preserves for her family, substances that are prohibited by law in foods for sale because the substances are injurious to health.

The department of agriculture has issued bulletins that give specific directions for the canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables without the use of preserving powders or canning compounds. These bulletins may be obtained without cost upon application to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.
